AN OPEN LETTER...

To the residents of Palos Verdes Estates, Rolling Hills, Hollywood Riviera, Torrance, Walteria, Inglewood, Hawthorne, Gardena and surrounding communities.

Descendant of a long line of European tailors, Tine's, "the tailor," announces plans to enlarge his Walteria store. Some twenty years ago, Tine's opened his first shop in Long Beach, introducing a new concept into the field of men's clothing. Tine's policy is to make up a select stock of ready-for-wear from his own bolts of imported fine wools. His ready-for-wear suits and sport coats have the same exacting and meticulous details usually found only in tailored to measure clothes. These fine summer and new Fall clothes are now offered for sale at disposal prices to expedite the remodeling program. Entire stock of clothes must be sold before the cabinet makers can get on with the job of remodeling and enlarging the selling space of his store.

... Ann Landers

eyes and one is almost shut.

I married a man I knew only two weeks. He was a bartender in this place and I was a cocktail waitress. He had a wonderful personality, swell sense of humor and everyone liked him. My husband died the year before and I was lonesome. Besides I had two growing sons who needed a father.

When we got married he insisted on a nice honeymoon. He was tapped out but I had a few thousand dollars. He talked me into buying a second-hand Jaguar. The third night out he got absolutely plastered on tequila, accused me of making eyes at a piano player and beat me up.

He has punched me so many times I've lost count. I wear sun-glasses all the time because no sooner am I rid of one mouse than he gives me another.

When he's nice there's no one sweeter. I really love him in spite of his faults, which makes it tough. I want to make my marriage work but I'm

Board Meeting

Board of the Y-Wives will meet Wednesday, Sept. 2, at the home of Mrs. Joyce Burt, 19910 Bernist St., Torrance.

High Sierra Jaunt

Mr. and Mrs. Barton Tatum and Barton, Jr., Helen and Phyllis returned Saturday from a week's trip to the High Sierras.

afraid he'll knock my block off one of these days. Please help me.—TRIXIE

Dear Trixie: How can I help a woman who can't even count the black eyes and winds up saying "I love him?"

A woman who continues to live with a man who beats her brains out is sick. Your children don't need a father like THIS... so stop making excuses. See a doctor and try to get well. And move out before he cripples you.

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for "ANN LANDERS' Booklet," "Help For the Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Fashion Show At Broadway Tomorrow

The Broadway Del Amo is presenting a back-to-school fashion show for girls over fourteen in the Terrace Room at 2:30 p.m. on Aug. 31.

Fashions from "Seventeen" magazine will be featured, including lingerie, sportswear, daytime and party fashions in the new Fall colors and fabrics. The classic look in Sportswear and beautifully coordinated separates, the blatant steal from boys in the boy-type shirts and sweaters will be shown.

Fluffy coats and the new belted coats, the young look in suits, and party and date dresses will be modeled for all types of events, whether informal or really gala.

The Broadway Hi-Deb Board will model at the show and will be available in the Junior Departments afterwards to advise girls on the latest fashion fads on campus.

There will be several exciting door prizes of back-to-school fashions.

An open invitation to the Steel Union:

Join us in a forward step

Steel companies are spending billions of dollars to modernize mills, methods and products.

But America, the world's greatest steel user, can never enjoy the full benefits of this multi-billion dollar program until the steel companies' labor agreements are as modern as the machinery in the mills.

The steel companies extend this invitation to the Union:

Join us in taking a forward step to help reduce wasteful, out-of-date practices; help pave the way for increased production, improved productivity, and resulting savings which can be shared by employees, stockholders and the public—without contributing to inflation.

Specifically, we have asked the Union to cooperate with us in:

1. Improving the language and the spirit of the labor agreements to bring them up-to-date with modern operations and to reduce causes of misunderstanding and friction that have developed in the past;
2. Protecting thousands of innocent workers by discouraging irresponsible acts of a lawless few who engage in unauthorized or "wildcat" strikes;
3. Retarding further inflation by dropping the experimental cost-of-living adjustment clause in the 1956 agreements. This clause, intended to spare steelworkers from the effects of inflation, has proven to be itself inflationary and thus self-defeating. All of the 17¢ an hour added to wage rates under the clause since 1956 would be retained.

These contract changes, accompanied by a cooperative attitude on the Union's part, would, we believe, pave the way to enable the companies to generate new economic programs to be shared with their employees.

Accordingly, in return for agreement on these contract changes we have offered to negotiate a non-inflationary two-year agreement providing an increase in pension and insurance benefits this year, and a modest increase in wages next year.

Such an agreement would place the steel companies in a stronger position to compete with other materials and with imports of foreign-made steel... It would give employees improved benefits, higher wages and greater job security... It would help hold the line against inflation.

This proposal does not threaten the basic rights of Union members in any way.

The companies recognize that the Union has a responsibility—and a legal right—to represent the interests of its members. The Union, on its part, should recognize that the companies have the right and obligation to manage their plants to the maximum benefit of employees, shareholders, and the public.

In these modern times, with great progress already achieved and even greater progress visible on the horizon, cooperation—not opposition—is the mark of real leadership.

Only with a cooperative attitude on the part of the Union and its leadership can the steel industry fully meet the needs of America and help curb inflation.

We urge the Union to join us in taking this forward step.
